Miss Kate Putnam and her talented troupe appeared at this place last night in "Old Curiosity Shop," and made a delightful performance. She was well received in Richmond for many a day. Miss Putnam as "Little Nell" was highly successful, looking and acting the part to suit the most critical, but as the "Marchioness" she was immense—carrying the house by storm. Her song and dance, "The Apple of my Eye," is the most decided hit in its way since "Shoo Fly," and has to be seen to be appreciated.

Committee on Constitutional Reforms.—Messrs. Merrimon, Humphrey and Seymour.

Report of Committee.

Mr. Murphy reported from committee on insurance, favorably upon bill to incorporate the North Carolina State Life Insurance Company.

Retired to Joint Session.

At 12 o'clock the Senate retired to the Chamber of the House to go into joint session upon the election of United States Senator. [The proceedings of this session will be found in House proceedings.]

Bills Passed.

Upon the return of the Senate to its Chamber, the bill to allow the holding of the Superior Court for Wake county to hold four terms a year was called up, the Committee having reported favorably, with the following amendment, provided that all original and final process in civil cases on for the collection of debts shall be made returnable to the terms commencing on the 8th Monday after the second Monday in February, and the 8th Monday after the second Monday in August.

Passed with amendment—99 ayes, 3 nays.

Personal Privileges.

Mr. Worth rose to a question of personal privilege. The Era of this city having stated that he had pledged at the last session that he would divide his per diem with the citizens of Moore, he desired to say that he did not represent the people of Moore county, that he made no pledge of this character, and that he did not divide with the people of his county.

At the close of the count it was shown that there was only a slight change from the previous day's ballot. Mr. Bryson, of Swain, who did not vote, Tuesday, recorded his vote for Judge Merrimon, and Mr. Carson, who voted first for Mr. Polk, changed his vote to Judge Merrimon. The result will be seen under head of "House proceedings."

THE UNITED STATES SENATORSHIP.—

The ballot for United States Senator in Commons, by both Houses in Joint Session, was one of peculiar interest. The lobbies were crowded with spectators, as also the galleries, where quite a number of ladies graced the scene.

Notwithstanding the large crowd in the Hall, during the counting of the ballot the utmost silence was maintained, and a pin might have been heard to drop. Every one seemed to feel a lively interest in the result, and to regard it with the greatest importance it involves.

THE SENATORIAL DIFFICULTY.—

Much interest is felt in our midst over the pending U. S. Senatorial contest, which just now presents anything but a settled appearance. The difficulty springs out of the fact that nineteen Conservative members decide voting with the caucus held on Monday afternoon, which caucus placed in nomination Hon. Z. B. Vance, seventy members of the said caucus voting for Vance. It is impossible to tell what the result will be, but we trust the elements may be so harmonized as not to damage the interests of the Conservative party in that county.

Upon motion to have printed the Constitution along with the documents accompanying the Governor's message, Mr. Worth said he did not favor the proposition, as before that document was printed again he wanted to have another crack at the amending of the same.

ELECTION OF JUDGES BY THE PEOPLE.

Political Judges were unknown in North Carolina until the reign or car pet-bag reconstruction. In point of learning, ability, high character, purity and worth, the judiciary of this State was once the peer of any other in the Union. We can point with just pride to several names associated with the Courts of North Carolina which have conferred distinguished honor upon the State and added lustre and fame abroad to American jurisprudence. These names constitute a rich heritage to our people and are held in veneration and reverence.

In better and purer times, it was a proud distinction to be a Judge. The position was conferred for merit, for talents, for integrity, for legal ability for dignity or character and impartiality. Now none of these requisites are deemed essential. The whole system has been changed. Judgeships, like other honors, are farmed out to political aspirants and partisans, for services rendered or promised. The system, since it was made elective, has proved a Pandora's box, from which evil has contumuously flowed, in copious streams, all over the land. Our Judges, with rare exceptions are bitter partisans, and are under the influence and control of party dictation. The consequence is, they often lean to the Radical side on all questions affecting the interests of their party.

The Radical party, in taking from the Legislature the right of electing Judges and conferring it upon the people, committed a grave and fatal error in that it brought the Judicial arm in contact with the mud and filth of political wranglings, and struck down the purity and independence of the Judiciary. That principle is engrained in the Radical Constitution, and there to remain until that instrument is re-modeled and amended.

The act which recently, passed the House of Representatives, provides that the Superior Court Judges shall hereafter be elected by the voters in their respective Judicial Districts, instead of by the vote of the whole State, as under the present law. This is a good law, because it is to be presumed that the people in the Districts where the candidates reside are better acquainted with their characters and qualifications for the position than the people in the State at large. Besides, if the Judges are to be nominated by political caucuses, one party may have a small majority in the State, while several of the Districts may have majorities on the other side. Then, according to the present mode of elections, such Districts would have foisted upon them Judges, not of their own choosing, but who have been elected by the popular vote of the State, and they may be persons who are exceedingly obnoxious to the masses of the citizens in their respective Districts.

Again, if electing Judges by the people is an evil, and this fact seems now to be generally admitted, the restriction of the election of Superior Court Judges to the voters of their own Districts, is a modification of the evil, and is all the modification that can possibly be made so long as the present Radical Constitution remains in force.

SHALL ANOTHER ASYLUM BE BUILT?

The Report of the Board of Directors and Superintendent of the Insane Asylum of North Carolina is a full statement of the present condition of that important State institution.

The present appropriation is deemed inadequate to the wants of the inmates, and the Superintendent recommends an annual appropriation of $65,000 for support, and $5,000 for improvements and repairs, being an increase of $10,000 over the present apportionment.

The Report shows that there are now in the Asylum 233 persons—119 males and 114 females. The Census returns of 1870 show that there are 775 insane persons in the State—making 546 insane persons out of the Asylum. The amount they are entitled to claim from the State Treasury is over $50,000 per annum—each being allowed $100. A calculation of this cost for 17 years is over $850,000, an amount sufficient to construct hospital accommodations for more than 1,000 patients.

The Wilmington Star commenting on the report, says:

The clear inference from the report under examination is that additional accommodations—another asylum—is demanded. We say "another asylum," one located in another place, because we think the convenience of the public of a large State, with no more railroad facilities than we possess, ought to have primary consideration, and not the question of cost. Besides, we doubt if the cost of a separate asylum would be greatly in excess of that of additional buildings at Raleigh.

If such a proposition is carried into effect, we know no place so well adapted for the purpose as Wilmington, as regards location, the commercial importance of the city and the facilities offered. The largest city in the State, it has the largest and ablest medical faculty. Humanity dictates that Dr. Griscom's suggestion of increased accommodations for the insane be carried into practical operation as soon as the finances of the State will admit, and many reasons can be advanced why a separate Asylum is to be preferred to additions to the present one.

CHALLENGING VOTERS.

There are thousands of negroes who voted in North Carolina in August, who had no legal right to do so.

It is true that many non-residents were prevented from casting their ballots by being challenged on and before the day of election, yet in many instances, on account of the want of positive proof, the challengers were unable to stop illegal voting. The oath of the person offering to vote, that he was a resident of the township or that he was twenty-one years old, was prima facie evidence of the truth of the assertion, and for want of rebutting testimony, he was of course allowed to cast his ballot. Hence, much fraud was committed which could not be prevented, as the evidence was not at hand.

In order to stop one fruitful source of corruption which has been practiced in this State since the right of suffrage was conferred on the colored race, we think the election law should be so amended as to forbid any registering within thirty days of the election. This would give ample opportunity to ascertain the bona fide residence of every person in each township, and would enable challengers to procure, when necessary, evidence of the want of the legal qualifications of those who may have registered. Such an amendment can possibly do no harm, and is the only remedy we know of to stop the voting of minors and non-residents.

Such a law should be passed, all persons who apply to vote have had their names on the registration books for at least one month, and in that time, their places of residence and ages can be fully known, and all the testimony touching the same can be procured and submitted to the judges of election whenever the right to vote is contested.

SOUTHERN IMPROVEMENT COMPANY.

Capital has at last turned into Southern channels, and the Chesapeake Rail Road running through the mining regions of Pennsylvania will no longer improve the Old Dominion, than the Charlotte Rail Road will assist the development of North Carolina. In addition to these rail roads, we hear of a vast scheme to get Southern lands into the market, and induce emigrants to go South and settle in a more genial climate than the extreme North can offer. Already has the attention of Frenchmen from the conquered provinces been directed to cheap lands in this State, and capitalists are organizing improvement companies to induce land owners to offer for sale alternate plots or pieces of land to actual settlers, that the increased value of the remainder may amply reward the seller for disposing of part at low rates.

If the stock of these companies can be disposed of in sufficient quantities, loans will be made to manufacturing companies, so that cotton mills, and iron furnaces will soon be started in various parts of the State. All good citizens wish for home development, and the most practical plan for forwarding this good work will command itself to the attention of all.

THE RECORDER ON THE MESSAGE.

We copy below some extracts from the Biblical Recorder of this city, on Governor Caldwell's late message. The Recorder expresses its opinion from an independent stand-point, removed from any political bias or prejudice. It will be seen that its comments are not very favorable:

(From the Biblical Recorder.)

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

We intended to publish this document in full, but it is long enough for three sermons, and we cannot spare the space. Besides, some parts are positively prolix. We therefore give the outline with an occasional opinion of our own. We wish to be respectful; but we intend to say what we think, whether respectful or not.

Governor Caldwell opens his message by telling the members of the Legislature what they assembled for, how abundant the crops have been, how firm is the grip in which the prevailing party holds the country, and how excellent was the advice of the town clerk to the Ephesians when he said: "Ye ought to be quiet, and to do nothing rashly." The Governor then proceeds to discuss the State Debt.

So then the bonds out amount to thirty seven millions; but only "a certain amount is due" on them. The only trouble is to ascertain that amount and repudiate what is not due. But the Governor says:

"No proposition looking to repudiation, in the slightest degree, would be consistent with the dignity of the State."

We are in favor of paying, at the earliest possible date, every cent we owe, and of repudiating now and henceforth every bond and claim which we do not owe. What the Governor is for, or against, we cannot discover.

The next topic is education. Now the great educational engine of the State is the University. Our great educational necessity is teachers, and the University ought to be preparing them. But the Governor ought to know that prominent men in both political parties are leagued together to bring the University under the hammer of the auctioneer, in order that it may be bought and run by the Methodists, and may swallow up Trinity. We protest against the tenacity with which President Pool clings to his office "merely to keep the Presbyterians out," as he says. Yet if it must be sold, we are perfectly willing that the Methodists shall buy it. But the Governor gives it a single sentence:

"As regards the University of the State, I refer to my recommendations in my last message, because I see no cause to change or add to them, and no reason to do so."

son to doubt their propriety and correctness."

Wonder if the Governor supposes that any one remembers "my last message?" Did a boy ever hunt for a last year's bird's nest?

The Governor next discusses the election laws. He considers them so complicated as to confuse illiterate voters. This to some extent, is certainly true, though so far as we have observed, the illiterate voters are in the hands of accomplished drill masters.

The Penitentiary Commissioners have not reported to the Governor; so he says. They certainly sent him their report and he twice returned it. He also alludes to the two boards contending before the Supreme Court for control of the Deaf & Dumb Asylum. In regard to the Lunatic Asylum, he compliments the management, and advise the opening of another in the West. Under the head of Internal Improvements, he urges an appropriation for the Marion and Asheville turnpike. Very well; but let us complete the roads from Old Fort to Wolf Creek from Lilesville to Charlotte, from Cleveland to Rutherford, from Sanford to Wadesboro, and from Tarboro to Williamson. We may not be able to build new roads; but economy demands the completion of those already commenced.

Not a word about Lowry. He tells of the resignations and deaths of officers and the appointment of successors. He closes with a promise of co-operation in building up the resources of the State.

THE PARTISAN MESSAGE.

Governor Caldwell's Radical message seems to be universally regarded as a signal failure except as a partisan document. In this respect, as the Charlotte Observer says, it is justly regarded as a success.

That paper speaking of the message says:

"We published it as a matter of general interest to the people, and for that reason only, as it contains little or nothing worthy the attention of the State or the Legislature.

It is singularly barren of valuable suggestions as to the measures which in future should be adopted for the further promotion of the public welfare and material advancement of the interests of North Carolina. As a State paper, containing just reflections, statesmen-like views, and wise propositions, looking to the improvement and advantage of the State, it is quite a failure, but as a partisan document it is an entire success.

It would have been far more becoming in one occupying the high station he fills, to have risen above the political prejudices and passions of the hour, and presented to the Legislature views and suggestions more in accord with ideas of elevated statesmanship and true patriotism.

DEATH OF SIR JOHN BOWRING.—The cable announces the death of one of the most prominent author-politicians of England. Sir John Bowring was born October 17, 1792, at Lackbear, near Exeter, and, after applying himself to acquiring a thorough knowledge of modern languages, produced a series of translations of the poetry of Russia, Holland and Spain in 1821 and 1824. He assumed the editorship of the Westminster Review in 1825, and continued in the position for several years. He was a member of Parliament from 1835 to 1837, and again from 1841 to 1849; was knighted in 1854, and appointed Governor of Hong Kong, from which office he retired on a pension in 1859.

On the 20th, you'll hear—Nov. 20, Mysterious Disappearance of a Kentucky Merchant in New York.

Mr. George N. Peay, a well known citizen of this city, brother of Esquire J. Speed Peay, and connected with some of our best families, recently disappeared under circumstances that excite serious apprehensions among his friends and relatives, and connect him with very unfavorable circumstances that render the alternative of their fears almost as unpleasant as their realization. Rumors concerning the affair have been in circulation for some days, but it was the wish of his friends that nothing should be said about it until further efforts should be made to discover the whereabouts of the missing man and clear up the mystery. The facts in the case are as follows:

On the 28th of last month Mr. Peay went to New York city on business for other parties, and it is known that he was attending to that business up to the first of last week. The transactions in which he was engaged involved the use of considerable money, and a draft for the sum of $4,700 was sent to him, which he must have received on Tuesday a week ago. The draft was on the First National Bank of New York, and the parties who sent it, not hearing from Mr. Peay for a day or two, grew uneasy, and telegraphed an inquiry concerning it to the First National Bank. The draft had not been heard of there, and the uneasiness was increased. Other inquiries were immediately set on foot, but nothing could be heard of the missing man, and last Friday night Esquire J. Speed Peay and City Attorney Laf. Joseph started to New York to investigate the affair.

On Saturday the draft was presented at the counter of the First National Bank in New York for payment, when that bank telegraphed here for instructions, and was told not to pay it, as it was probably that there had been foul play somewhere. The payment of the draft was therefore refused, and it was regularly protested. It appears from the best information the friends of Mr. Peay can gather that on Tuesday, or the latest, Wednesday, he got the draft cashed at the Nassau Bank, and that bank held it until Saturday, when it sent it in for collection. Since that time nothing has been heard of Mr. Peay, and a dispatch was received on Sunday from the parties who went on to search for him, that no clue could be obtained to his whereabouts. Yesterday a further dispatch was received asking that detective Blight he sent on, and that officer will probably be able to unravel the mystery.

A strong apprehension prevails among Mr. Peay's friends and relations that he has been murdered and robbed of the $4,000, and his body made away with. They cannot conceive of his body made away with. They cannot conceive of his violating the trust reposed in him, and the small amount of the draft in his hands would add strength to the disbelief in such a theory of his disappearance. The only other alternative suggested is that he has suffered violence. We earnestly hope that both hypothesis may prove incorrect, and that the mystery be cleared up so as to leave Mr. Peay unharmed, both in name and person. In the meantime his friends and family are enduring the agony of suspense, and a natural anxiety exists among all concerned in the matter.

MILITARY APPOINTMENTS AND ORDERS.—The President this morning appointed Brigadier General Irvin McDowell, whose name heads the list of officers of that grade, to be Major General, in place of the late General George G. Meade. General McDowell will be assigned to the command of the Department of the South, and Major-General W. S. Hancock, the senior Major-General of the army, will be assigned to the command of the Military Division of the Atlantic, vice General Meade, deceased.

General Hancock for several years has been in command of the Department of Dakota, with headquarters at St. Paul, Minnesota.

General Terry has been in command of the Department of the South for some time past, and he now takes the Department of Dakota, vacated by General Hancock.

The headquarters of General McDowell, the new commander, will be at Louisville. General Hancock's headquarters will be either at Philadelphia or New York. The headquarters of the Department of Dakota will remain at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Treasury Statistics.

The report of the Register of the Treasury recommends the creation of a new division in the bureaus to prepare, in time for the centennial anniversary, a full statement, running back to the formation of the Government, of all receipts and expenditures. The amount of bonds issued during the fiscal year was: Original issues, $133,493,730; coupon bonds transferred, $150,476,150; total, $325,829,680. The amount of bonds canceled during the year was:—Coupon bonds exchanged for registered, $36,919,800; registered bonds transferred, $156,476,150; coupon and registered bonds redeemed, $208,693,500.—Total, $402,098,450. 150,160,301 pieces of currency, notes, &c., valued at $100,073,738 were counted and destroyed. The aggregate number of persons employed in the bureaus at this date is 223, showing a reduction of twelve since June, 1871, and the Register states that it will be his aim to keep the number as low as may be consistent with the prompt performance of official duties.

Trouble among the colored brothers in a scramble for a place in Grant's Cabinet is already brewing. A statement having been made that Frederick Douglass is urging the appointment of John M. Langston to a position in the Cabinet as Attorney General, Douglas States he is neither urging the appointment of Mr. Langston nor anybody else for any position; neither is he in search of office for himself. Langston pronounced Douglass a very considerable humbug, and at the tail end of the controversy the Administration steps in and intimates that neither Langston nor Douglass is about to receive a Cabinet or any other position. A meeting of the colored persons of the District was held this evening at the Fifteenth Presbyterian Church for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of Osborne P. Anderson, the only survivor of the John Brown raid.

The eighty-ninth anniversary of the evacuation of New York by the British was celebrated in that city Monday by the veterans of the war of 1812. A hundred dead Chinese were shipped in one freight invoice from San Francisco lately.

The Mayoralty campaign in New York, it is said, cost as follows: For Lawrence, $9,000; Havemeyer, $40,000; O'Brien, $75,000.

The Arrest of Jay Gould.—Excitements in the Stock Market.

The arrest in New York, on Friday last, of Jay Gould, the deposed president of the Erie Railroad Company, upon a warrant sworn to by P. H. Watson, president of the Erie directory, and Henry N. Smith, of the house of Smith, Gould, Martin & Co., president of the Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad, in Missouri, and one of the directors of the Tenth National Bank of New York, upon the charge of embezzling $6,726,551 belonging to the Erie Company, has been announced. The arrest is attributed by the friends of Gould to the "cornering" of the common stock of Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company, which, it is asserted, grew out of stock operations, and the severance of old and the formation of new speculative ties by men notorious in the annals of Wall street, who, having preyed upon the unfortunate "outsider" in Wall street for so long a time, have exhausted their resources, and, having no other game, have fallen upon one another, and to whom Smith, late partner of Gould, is said to be opposed. The offences charged date from August, 1868, to the 22d of November, 1872, during which time Smith, one of the affiants, was a partner of Jay Gould, and the information upon which the warrant was obtained is said to have been derived from the books of that concern. On the other hand, it is asserted by President Watson that his information was not completed concerning Jay Gould's transactions until Thursday night, the day previous to the arrest, and that, therefore, the theory adopted by Gould's friends is not correct. S. L. M. Barlow, one of the Erie directors also states valuable information which they had just been able to obtain from the books of Smith, Gould, Martin & Co., led to the arrest at this time; that information showed that Gould had personally robbed the Erie road of $10,000,000. Mr. Barlow added that Gould was concerned with August Schell, Horace F. Clarke, and others in a gigantic stock speculation in which $100,000,000 is staked, Gould's interest being $15,000,000. Another Erie director said this was but the first instalment of revelations to be made.

It was not supposed that the attempt against Gould in the Chicago and Northwestern transaction would be successful, which seems to be confirmed by the fact that Smith on Saturday refused to settle, and not a share of the stock was bought on his account. Vanderbilt is believed to be at the back of Gould, from the fact that his son-in-law, Horace F. Clarke, is one of the bondsmen in the Erie suit.

It is known that Smith is short of the stock to an amount exceeding 30,000 shares, and that Drew is in a similar position as regards upwards of 20,000 shares.

Considerable excitement existed in the stock market in New York on Saturday. Northwestern sold first at 155, then at 150, down to 145; again at 150. Later in the day Northwestern common stock was sold under the rule for parties who refuse to settle, forty-three thousand shares, to Kenyon, Cox & Co., of which Daniel Drew is a special partner, for $2 cash.

MILITARY APPOINTMENTS AND ORDERS.—The President this morning appointed Brigadier General Irvin McDowell, whose name heads the list of officers of that grade, to be Major General, in place of the late General George G. Meade. General McDowell will be assigned to the command of the Department of the South, and Major-General W. S. I offered to take fifty thousand shares if he would hold the balance sixty days, and give me a call for it. He agreed, but broke his promise.
